

SPRING 2011 WHERESD.COM

San Diego

where

Celebrating
75 years
of Where

BITES OF SPRING

FARM TOURS, AL FRESCO EATS, MEXICAN FOOD, BREAKFASTS, BACON AND MORE IN OUR ANNUAL DINING ISSUE

GOLF GUIDE

Q&A: TV'S
AUTUMN REESER

HOW TO WEAR
SPRING'S NAUTICAL
FASHIONS

MASTERS OF '60S
PHOTOGRAPHY

A GUIDE TO THE GREENS

From the desert to the sea, San Diego's got game

Talk about sand traps and water hazards. San Diego has two of the biggest: the Anza-Borrego desert and the Pacific Ocean. Coastal cliffs and desert mountains set the scene for some of the best golf in the world. More than 90 courses are open to the public, and players of all levels can take a swing at links near the city center or at par-3 courses for that quick fix. One day on the greens will be all it takes to understand why San Diego County is truly a golfer's paradise.

RANCHO BERNARDO INN & COUNTRY CLUB

A Ted Robinson Sr.-designed championship layout with an amazing 18th hole, the course was enhanced some years ago by the design team of Schmidt & Curley. Also on site is a 27-hole executive course with mature trees and natural water features. Non-guests are welcome, but reservations must be made a minimum of seven days in advance.

17550 Bernardo Oaks Drive, Rancho Bernardo, 858.675.8470